

I am opposed to the Consumer Bankers Association (CBA) challenging Indiana's Telephone Privacy law. I feel that I, as a paying customer, have the right to my privacy in my home. I feel I, as well as all telephone customers, should not have to be subjected to unwanted calls even if we have a current business relationship with this organization. I am sending this message to stand up for the rights of myself and other telephone users and state that we do not want the Telephone Privacy law in Indiana changed to allow solicitation calls from companies we have current business relationships with.
